

Introduction to Lean Transformation

Begin your transformation today

This four hour workshop is delivered as an interactive combination of presentation and focussed discussion, suitable for groups of four to fifteen delegates.

In this way delegates engage with and understand the concepts and application of lean as part of a company-wide transformation programme, instead of just hearing about a set of tools.

Delegates learn about the principles underpinning lean transformation and use one of the key tools to analyse their own work routine to enhance their understanding.

They then discuss how to use their findings to improve the workplace on their return.

Who should attend?

This four hour session can be run twice in one day and is ideal to:

- Induct the whole workforce in the principles of lean.
- Interest employees in improving business practices using the lean techniques.

Course content
